Google Classroom 'live stream' support for students

Teachers will be enabling the 'live stream' option at various points during the week. This means that students will be able to ask teachers questions about the lesson/work and receive an immediate response. For this to work in the best interests of all students, please can you read the attached agreed student code of conduct with your son/daughter which will be in operation when the 'live stream' is open. We know that the overwhelming majority of students will engage positively in this interaction and will see this as a helpful addition to their learning. Students should continue to check notifications within Google Classroom to understand when a teacher will be available to help them directly for each subject.

'Well done' reward animated postcards

We continue to be impressed with the diligence and conscientious nature being shown by students in these circumstances and teachers have recently been issuing animated reward postcards via Google Classroom to recognise great efforts by students. Look out for these via the Google Classroom stream option.

Many thanks for your continued support with remote learning.

Future Doctors Week

Good Afternoon,

From July 20th - 24th we're running our Future Doctors week online for your students aged 14-18 who might be considering careers in healthcare and we also have a totally free guide to writing the perfect med school personal statement for all of your students that are interested in careers in medicine to receive a copy.

Students spend the Future Doctors Week learning everything they need to apply to med school and will gain some fantastic work experience too to help with applications, all from the comfort of their own homes.

With medical work experience being such a critical aspect to a successful application and world events currently making that very difficult to obtain, we wanted to incorporate this into an online course, led by current practicing UK NHS doctors.

School starts July 20th - July 24th and full details can be found by your students visiting <https://www.premedprojects.co.uk/future-doctors-week-online> and that's where any of your students aged 14-18 who are considering choosing medicine at university can also receive their free guide to perfecting the personal statement for medicine.

Thanks a lot and we hope to see them soon!

Virtual Work Experience Opportunity

Virtual work experience from Fusion JV, working on behalf of HS2.

The programme is open to any students in years 10-13, and would be of particular interest to any students considering a career in archaeology, ecology, engineering, or any career within the construction industry.

This offer is available on first come first serve basis and cohort is 20 students for the session starting 27th July.

The programme will use the Google Classroom platform to share resources, host all of the speaker sessions and allow the students to work collaboratively in small groups.
